Heading out to Sag Harbor

MICHELIN award-winning chef Melissa O'Donnell is headed to Sag Harbor this summer to open a sea-to-table pop-up experience, we hear. We've learned that O'Donnell, in partnership with live-stream culinary platform Kittch, will open Sag Harbor Kitchen in the space formerly belonging to Dockside Bar & Grill within the American Legion building. An insider tells Page Six that the restaurant will "build on the American Legion's history and legacy" and will "benefit veterans and honor the community." Sag Harbor Kitchen will also host special events, backgammon, jazz suppers and après-beach cocktail hours and will mostly take walk-ins and only a limited number of reservations.
